Key Learning Question: What was the Kingdom of Benin, and how were European countries involved with it?

Crucial Knowledge

We are getting better at investigating the past:

- The Kingdom of Benin was in a place that is now a part of modern day Nigeria in West Africa. It is not in the same place as the modern African nation of Benin.
- The Kingdom of Benin was home to the Edo people who, in around 900 CE, began clearing parts of the rainforests of West Africa to build their homes.
- The Edo people worked together to build a community of farmers and craftspeople who traded successfully.
- Small settlements soon grew into the larger kingdom of Igodomigodo, which was ruled by kings called Ogisos (kings of the sky).
- After being governed by over 30 different Ogisos, the kingdom was then controlled by a new dynasty of rulers, called the Oba.
- The Kingdom had many skilled craftsmen who were commissioned by the Oba to produce highly sophisticated bronze and brass sculptures that have become known as “Benin Bronzes”.
